

Randy Kazandy, Where Are Your Glasses?

Brilliantly illustrated and written in musical rhyme, Randy Kazandy, Where Are Your Glasses? offers a gentle lesson in self-acceptance for all kids, be-spectacled or not. Randy's motto is "I love being me!" and he learns to embrace this wholeheartedly, and will help kids do the same. Join Randy on his zany adventure on the pathway to self-acceptance with this beautiful keepsake. Visit randykazandy.com for more information.

How to Order:

Save $7.00 and get free shipping and handling by pre-ordering a copy of the book through your school! Just bring your teacher a check for $20.00 in time for author Rhonda Fischer's visit.

Rhonda Fischer, award-winning author of the wildly successful new book, Randy Kazandy, Where Are Your Glasses?, will be available to autograph copies of her book during her school visit. Please fill in your name below to have Rhonda write a special message in your copy of the book.

Your Name: _____

School Visits by Author Rhonda Fischer

The extraordinary music teacher and award-winning author is touring schools around the country with her fresh new book, Randy Kazandy, Where Are Your Glasses?, teaching children about individuality and self-acceptance. Bring the spunky Randy Kazandy to life in your school with one of Rhonda's musical and fun-filled presentations!

About the Presentations:

In a 50 minute presentation entitled, "I Love Being Me," Rhonda will read her award-winning new book, Randy Kazandy, Where Are Your Glasses? as part of an interactive and engaging presentation for students. Children will learn the Randy Kazandy theme song and discover the importance of self-love through discussion of self-esteem issues. The "I Love Being Me" program is full of colorful characters, music, and fun, teaching children to love themselves no matter their differences. A question and answer session will follow the presentation. Other topics of discussion will include telling a story through art, how a book is created, and basic tips on creating and writing a story. Rhonda will be available for book signings following the presentation. Media coverage of Rhonda's visit will be provided.

Scheduling and Fees:

One large assembly or two smaller presentations can be scheduled for $2000. Schools which sell 100 copies of Randy Kazandy, Where Are Your Glasses? will not be charged a fee. Fliers should be sent home to parents about two weeks prior to Rhonda's visit in order to get the word out and to allow students to pre-order copies of the book, which make a wonderful keepsake.

Contact:

Karen Jacque at Whim Publishing
877.852.6276

Visit randykazandy.com for more information.

Brilliantly illustrated and written in musical rhyme, Randy Kazandy offers a gentle lesson in self-acceptance for all kids, be-spectacled or not. Randy Kazandy's motto is "I love being me!" and he learns to embrace this wholeheartedly, and will help kids do the same. Join Randy on his zany adventure on the pathway to self-acceptance.

Lead-Free and Child Safe! Deluxe Hardcover/Dust jacket $19.95

